Linda is an experienced practitioner who adeptly handles a wide array of straightforward to complex estate planning and estate and trust administration matters. As a business partner, she works closely with clients to design and implement sophisticated strategies integral to family wealth planning. Linda advises individual and corporate fiduciaries, resolves Orphans' Court matters and provides charitable planning and counseling for tax exempt organizations. For clients who have closely held businesses that need to address challenges such as business governance, formation, tax, valuation and private wealth planning for the next generation, Linda works with her expansive network of Fox Rothschild colleagues nationally. Linda has helped numerous clients develop strategies for preventing unnecessary or costly litigation, and advises clients—and, at times, opposing counsel—how best to achieve reasonable resolutions for all parties.

Before Fox Rothschild

Prior to joining Fox, Linda was senior counsel at a Pittsburgh, PA firm focused on trusts and estates law. She previously served as counsel at a large international firm and an associate at a nationwide firm, as well as in-house counsel at a large Pittsburgh bank.

Beyond Fox Rothschild

Linda serves as one of the co-course planners for the Estate Law Institute and regularly lectures for the Pennsylvania Bar Institute on a range of topics, including exit strategies for trusts, the Uniform Trust Act, charitable planning, planning with retirement benefits and federal and state death tax return preparation.
